

VR game Cave Digger's upcoming major update announced – first teaser revealed

A western town full of riches, mysteries and “mine blowing“ adventures

Oulu, Finland -- June 10, 2019 -- Cave Digger's alternative western world adventures will expand as Finnish indie studio Mekiwi announced they are working on a major update for PSVR and PC VR. A teaser released with the announcement shows that the devs are aiming for a large game world expansion, removing the original game boundaries like the in-lift restricted game area and timed levels. The update's exact release dates for different platforms aren't confirmed yet but the studio aims to be ready towards the end of Q3 this year.

<https://youtu.be/3rqwbx6e-0Y>

The update gives the player the freedom to explore an abandoned mining town and its new mines, with a much larger set of mystery events and paths, which lead to different endings.

Of the decision to continue expanding the mystery-filled game world, Mekiwi VR Producer Jani Kaipainen said, “We felt the game was not finished yet. We had many ideas in our mind and many also came from the community. As we got good feedback for the Elevator part we decided to move on and develop a massive update with many many new treasures and mechanics. Nevertheless, we want to show to those who have been supporting us and future players alike that we care about our community's voice. Many YouTubers and other influencers have also been very helpful, which we are also really grateful of. Also, the Discord channel is active and you are welcome to join”

Originally Cave Digger released exactly a year ago as a free version on Steam, followed by a DLC named “Riches” a few months later while the free version plus Riches released as a unified title on Oculus and Viveport stores. Cave Digger was also released on PlayStation VR last March. The expansion is set to come on Steam, Oculus Store, Viveport and PSVR platforms with no extra charge to all current PlayStation Store, Oculus Store or Viveport game owners or Riches DLC owners on Steam.

Key additions in the upcoming major update

- Travel and explore deep underground tunnels
- Upgrade the town with collected riches
- Discover ancient mysteries and treasures

Be sure to receive the latest development updates for Cave Digger. Join Cave Digger's official Discord channel.

About Studio: MeKiwi is a full-stack digital agency in Oulu, Finland, established in 2014. Originally started as a software development company, Mekiwi has since grown to cover many digital services. Game development branch they started in 2017 since a lot of its staff consists of avid gamers. Cave Digger is their first VR game title.

Begüm Dođan
Mekiwi
begum@mekiwi.org

FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE 10.6.2019

Teaser

Website

Game Dev Website